NEED A LIFT

Defy Gravity

Over time, the natural, youthful arch of your eyebrows begins to drop. With that comes the sag of the upper eyelid, creating a tired look. A full, tight face lift is no longer the only answer to taking years off your face. The safer, more effective and natural approach is a brow lift. Using an endoscopic technique, Dr. John Burns raises sagging brows, which gives a three-for-one punch: The forehead is smoothed, the eyelids are lifted and the eyes are more open. Clients end up looking refreshed, not surgery-certified. The procedure is short—just one to two hours—and can even be done with local anesthesia, based on how comprehensive a client's needs are. With a quick recovery of only one to two weeks, this procedure is an anti-aging panacea that we can get on board with. $5,200, 9101 N. Central Expressway, 214.515.0002, drjohnburns.com

PLEASED TO TREAT YOU

Tighten Up Whether it's weight gain and loss or the rapid adjustments your body makes during pregnancy, it's difficult to keep a tight tummy even with the most rigorous exercise program. In recent years, the comprehensive mommy makeover has been popular, with the tummy tuck taking centerstage. Dallasites seek out Dr. Fred Hackney for his no-drain procedures, which eliminate the need for cumbersome drains after surgery. After removing excess skin and fat, and tightening the upper and lower abdominal wall, Dr. Hackney uses dissolving sutures under the skin to reattach muscle—a crucial move for busy women who don't want to deal with the tedious, round-the-clock care of medical drains. Another procedure he performs: the mini tuck. For women (or men!) who require only minimal tightening below the navel, this less-invasive surgery rids the stomach of that last bit of flab that all those crunches can't kill. Who's ready for bikini season? From $7,500 - $9,500, 8315 Walnut Hill Lane, Ste. 225, 214.346.9222, drhackney.net
